The rule adopted by the board of supervisors that no bills will be allowed unless accompanied by reports is a guard against allowing money without knowing what it is for. If itemized reports are exacted of one, they should be from all.

The money in the treasurer's office was counted today and the gratifying showing made of $10,887.70. This will pay off all the bills due to date and leave a good nest egg to build to during the fourth and last quarter.

The mortality of animals in the Guaymas valley and on the ranches west of there, is reported by El Trafico to be very heavy, and farmers are greatly alarmed, some even proposing to drive their herds to the Yaqui river. The drought has been terrible and no one has been able to sow a grain of maize for lack of water.

ONLY 6 per cent of the U. S. army deserted during the year 1890. This is in strong contrast to the Chilean army, which deserted and went over to the enemy in a body before Valparaiso. Chili may have some the best of us on the Itata affair, but our standing army stands better than theirs.

A Miss ROWAN, formerly of Los Angeles, has taken to the stage and is a pronounced success. In an interview with a San Francisco newspaper man she gave him something to think over. She said: "I have accepted the advice of the brainiest women in the profession, who are uniformly of the opinion that marriage, although good for the men, is a great drawback to the women in the profession. Marriage hampers a woman of the stage. As soon as an actress marries, the managers make terms with her husband instead of with her."

The bill authorizing the letting out of the patients in the county hospital to the lowest bidder, is a bad law. A cheap minister, cheap physician or a cheap lawyer are always the dearest in the end. The act should be repealed. There are very few first class surgeons in Arizona. Whatever may have been the charges of extravagance in the past against the management of the hospital in Cochise county, there was no charge of lack of skill and ability. These attributes come high, and a man up in his profession never counts the cost of a cure. It would seem that Cochise county might afford to pay as high for medical ability as the Southern Pacific Co, but we can not do it under the present law.

G. W. CHENEY returned from Phoenix with the expressed determination to work for the adoption of the constitution. When asked this morning whether he would stand in for statehood, he remarked "Why certainly, what did I go up there for?" Col. Herring protested against the adoption of the articles on water and suffrage, but signed the constitution. Upon a vote to adopt the constitution as a whole, all voted 'aye' with the exception of Col. Herring. Notwithstanding this fact, the friends of the Col. state that he will support the cause of statehood. From this talk one is forced to believe, as the Phoenix Republican so aptly states, that "the adoption of the constitution is not to be a partisan question."

THE examination of F. J. Heney for the killing of Dr. Handy resulted, as every one expected would be the outcome, in his discharge. Dr. Handy brought his death upon himself. Frank Heney, whom fate had chosen to act the part of executioner, was an unwilling agent of destiny. Like all men who have firm convictions, a determination to stand by the weak against the strong, and an enemy to cowardice where principle is involved, he may be said to have brought the responsibility of taking the blood of a fellow man upon himself. But the sympathy of those who love honest manhood is with both the dead and the living actors in the drama just closed, and naught but contempt for the craven coward who flinched from his Christian and professional duty toward an unfortunate woman, for fear of the wrath of one who had wronged her.

The papers of San Diego are kicking against the Santa Fe worse than the Frisco papers kick against the S. P. Co. The 'Frisco folks want the Santa Fe to run in there and the San Diego folks want the S. P. to build to that town, while both roads seem to be satisfied with the situation.

CHICAGO GENERAL SUPPLY CO,

James Price met with a distressing accident at San Bernardino ranch yesterday. He was mounting his saddle and throwing his leg over and down on the further side he caught it on the point of a sharp knife which had been placed in his saddle bags and the entire calf of his right leg was cut open for a length of several inches. He was brought to town and taken to the hospital this afternoon, where his injured limb was properly cared for. A Mexican had put the knife in the saddle pocket with the point sticking up and out of the bag.
